

HMI's 2016 Gathering

Cultivating Community: Land, Food, Health

Local food security, land health, strengthening our communities and nourishing our bodies.

Cultivating Community: Land, Food, Health is no ordinary conference! Let's grow together through a field day at an innovative ranch, fine dining, farm-fresh local foods and sessions on numerous sustainable topics that matter to you, making this an event you won't forget.

Connect with innovative, solution-oriented and passionate farmers, ranchers, conservationists, authors, natural food/health professionals and our own Holistic Management community.

October 14-16, 2016

Paicines Ranch
Paicines, California

What to Expect

It's all about supporting regenerative agriculture, building stronger communities and learning together. Throughout these 3 days, we'll feed your senses with rich conversation, nutritious and delicious food, beautiful landscapes and live entertainment.

Joel Salatin of Polyface Farms will be our special keynote speaker.

Learn how Holistic Management practices and principles can:

- help us heal the earth
- grow nutrient-dense food
- improve wildlife habitat
- improve profitability and quality of life for the entire community
- cultivate more effective human relationships
